LONG AGO. As through the poplar's gusty spire The March wind sweeps and sings sit beside the hollow fire, And dream familiar things; Old memories wake, faint echoes make A murmur of dead Springs.

Ah, days when life had aim and meaning. What buried years ago! When friend—no shadow intervening— Was friend, and friend was foe; When life and youth, and love had truth, And heart had faith to show.

Somewhere now woods are green and tender; Somewhere hedgerows are filled
With buds; somewhere, if winds befriend her,
The thrush begins to build; Somewhere no feets has Spring, no tears.
For hopes that March has killed. Sing, thrush, your songs of praise and passion Fill all the budding wood With music of that bygone fashion My youth so understood! Now I am old, the world's grown cold.

THE TAKES OF NEVADA. Nevada has seven lakes of considerable size. Lake Tahoe, in the Sierra Nevada mountains is 6,000 feet above the level of the sea. It lies about equally in Nevada and California, is remarkable clear and cool, and is celebrated for the abundance and excellence of its fish, trout weighing 20-30 pounds being often caught in it. The scenery is beautiful and it is a great summer resort. The lake 20 miles long by 10-12 in width.

Washoe Lake, in Washoe Valley, is but 6 or 8 miles in length and 3 or in width. The waters are alkaline. Pyramid Lake is 30 miles in length and 10 to 12 wide and is 4000 feet above the sea. It is in Humboldt county. A rock rises 600 feet above the surface in the form of a pyramid, and gives the name to the lake. It abounds in fine trout. Walker Lake, in Esmaralda county is an irregular sheet of water 25 miles long and from 6 to 10 miles wide. It has an elevation of 4,200 feet and is well stocked with fish.
